

Solicitation Number
Agency	University of California
Program Title	Pacific Rim Research Program (PRRP)
Funding Areas	Any discipline
Eligibility	Eight proposals may be submitted per campus
Campus Deadline	November 20, 2009
Sponsor Deadlines	February 16, 2010
Campus Procedure	An informational meeting will be held on Monday, October 19 from 10 – 11 a.m. in the Pellish Room, 2206 North Hall. Eligible persons should complete the online application at http://ironforge.hri.uci.edu/fastapp/pacrim/applicants/index.php by 5 p.m. on Friday, November 20. The Advisory Committee will review all pre-proposals to determine which eight will go forward to the system-wide competition. Due to limited resources, applicants should not expect detailed feedback from the Committee. Those applicants chosen for the system-wide competition will have the opportunity to revise their applications and work with a departmental administrator on the formal proposal packet. Final applications must be submitted online by the UC PRRP deadline, February 16, 2010.
Guidelines	http://pacrim.ucsc.edu/
Synopsis of Program	Proposals should address questions that contribute to the understanding of the Pacific Rim as a distinct region. Priority is given to research involving more than one country, focusing on interactions or flows of major regional problems, and including collaboration among scholars in different disciplines. New Initiative Grants will fund research that explores the impact of “crisis” on the Pacific region, historically and in the contemporary moment.
Award Information	Faculty Initiative Grants—up to $50K; Faculty Research/Planning Grants—up to $25K; Advanced Graduate Research Fellowships—up to $20K
